

Carolina Cup sales are off to a flying start for April 2 races

Officials with the Carolina Cup Steeplechase are reporting that renewals for reserved parking spaces for the 79th edition of the Camden spring classic on Saturday, April 2, were strong and that orders for the remaining available slots have been coming into the office at a steady, if not heavy, pace.

Last Friday was the deadline for last year's reserved parking space holders to assure that they could retain their same spaces for this year's races. Since then, the remainder of the spaces have been put up for sale.

Already, rows A & B in College Park were sold out while a few spaces remained on row C. Infield spots are also selling quickly.
